

JSAP Venues

Center for Advanced Technology (Sagamihara Campus)

The 2007 Spring Meeting of the Japan Society of Applied Physics 2007 will be held from March 27 to 30, at the Sagamihara Campus of Aoyama Gakuin University in Sagamihara City. The Campus is readily accessible, being 40 minutes from the international port city of Yokohama and 40 minutes from Shinjuku, one of Japan's most well-known commercial districts in central Tokyo.

Sagamihara City is in the center of Kanagawa Prefecture and only 90 minutes from famous cultural, sporting and resort areas including Kamakura the ancient capital, baseball and soccer stadiums in Yokohama and Tokyo and the breathtaking views and spa resorts of Hakone.

Aoyama Gakuin University is one of Japan's oldest Christian education institutions with a history of more than 130 years. The University has established a prestigious reputation in Japan as a comprehensive educational institution offering tuition from the kindergarten to the university level.

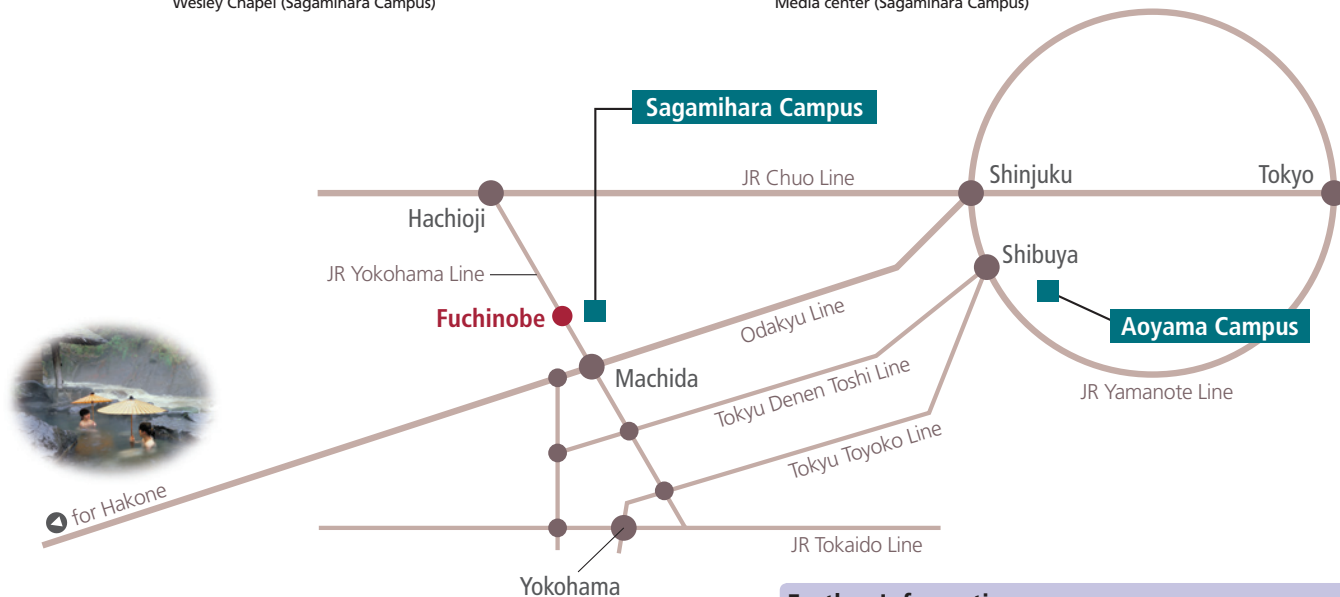

Aoyama Gakuin University offers six undergraduate programs and has six graduate schools and three specialized graduate schools. It has a total of 19,000 students of whom 1,400 are studying in graduate school courses. The University's two main campuses are Aoyama Campus, located in Shibuya Ward, Tokyo, and the Sagamihara Campus, where members of the JSAP will gather for the Spring 2007 meeting.

Wesley Chapel (Sagamihara Campus)

Media center (Sagamihara Campus)

Further Information

Aoyama Gakuin University: <http://www.aoyama.ac.jp/en/>